Art.9. Each insured person has only one personal profile in the insurer's online portal, regardless of the number of insurance policies concluded in his favor.

Art.10. The insured person has unlimited access to his/her personal profile, all documents and all information in connection with his/her online claim. The profile remains unchanged and is retained upon each subsequent conclusion of an insurance contract. The account remains active within 3 months after the end of the insurance coverage of the last contract concluded in favor of the person. In case of subsequent insurance of the person in the Company, The profile is activated automatically, and the person does not need to re-register.

Article 11. (1) The insured person has unlimited access to a virtual insurance card through his/her personal profile in the insurer's online portal for the period in which his/her account is active according to Art. 10 above.

(2) An analogue of the Virtual Insurance Card shall be the personal health card issued on a material carrier.

(3) The insured person shall present his/her virtual card to the provider of medical care by displaying it through his/her personal profile in the portal, and there is no need to present it on paper or to show plastic on a personal health card.

IV. Making and reviewing online claims

Article 12. (1) The online claim for reimbursement of the costs incurred by the insured person in connection with the health services and/or goods provided to him/her purchased by him shall be submitted through his/her personal profile, in accordance with these Terms and in compliance with the terms of the insurance contract and the annexes thereto.

(2) Any online claim submitted through the personal profile of the insured person shall be considered to have been filed personally by him.

(3) Insured persons may submit their claims online during the validity of the respective insurance contract, as well as up to three months after the end of the coverage period specified in the policy. After the expiry of the three-month period under the first sentence, the insured persons may submit their claim to the insurer only on paper.

Art. (1) In the event that health services or goods have been used/purchased by/in favor of a person other than the insured person who is the account holder in the insurer's online platform, or documents containing data of another person other than the insured person who is the account holder of the insurer's online platform are uploaded, The insurer cancels the online claim. The insurer cancels the online claim only because it is submitted through an account that is not personal to the user of the health goods or services and in order to prevent the sharing of sensitive personal data relating to persons other than the account holder.

(2) Upon cancellation of the online claim under para 1, the insured person, who has actually incurred expenses in connection with the health services and/or goods provided to him / purchased by him and has created in his favor a personal account in the online portal of the insurer, may at any time submit an online claim through his personal account or submit his claim to the insurer on paper.

(3) For the purposes of these Terms, the cancellation of the online claim within the meaning of paragraph 1 shall not constitute a refusal to pay an insurance indemnity or a refusal to accept a claim for payment of insurance indemnity.

Article 14. (1) For the purposes of online filing and examination of claims, the correspondence between the insured person and the insurer shall be carried out through the personal profile of the insured person in the insurer's online portal.

(2) The insurer shall notify the insured person of any new message or document received in his/her personal profile by SMS and/or electronically.

Article 15. (1) The online claim is considered submitted from the moment of its receipt in the insurer's online portal through the personal profile of the insured person.

(2) Upon receipt of the Online Claim in the Online Portal, an incoming number of the Online Claim is automatically generated.

Art.16. (1) The online claim shall contain only electronic documents and electronic application of the insured person and the insurer, which have the force of written documents, handwritten signed by their sender.

(2) When submitting an insurance claim through the online portal and for the purposes of online submission of the insurance claim by the insured person, placing ticks at the designated places, pressing a button to move to the next window and filling in data constitute a signing by the insured person with an electronic/advanced electronic signature, which in its relations with the insurer on the occasion of the submission of the respective claim, will enjoy the power of a handwritten signature by the person.

(3) When submitting an insurance claim through the online portal of Euroins AD and for the purposes of the online submission of the insurance claim by the insured person, the data, applications, declarations and documents filled in by the person constitute electronic documents and contain electronic statements within the meaning of the Electronic Document and Electronic Certification Services Act and have the force of an original document, signed by the person in person. Each individual application, declaration or document shall constitute a separate electronic document.

(4) Each ticking, pressing a button to move to the next window and each filling in of data shall constitute a separate electronic statement.

Article 17. (1) The insurer shall not be liable for:

a) incorrect, false, poorly scanned/photographed or unscrupulously declared data entered by the insured person in connection with the online filing of a claim;

b) the payment of insurance indemnity to a bank account incorrectly submitted by the insured;

c) interruptions of the Internet service of the insured person related to temporary unavailability or errors in loading the portal for online claims due to technical problems at the Internet service provider of the insured person.

Art.18. Access to the personal file is personal and the insured person must not provide the passwords for access to third parties. The insured persons are responsible for unauthorized access to their personal data by third parties due to the provision of access to their personal account to third parties.

Art.19. The filing of complaints against acts and decisions of the insurer on online claims shall be carried out through the section provided for this purpose on the website of the insurer (www.euroins.bg) or on paper.
